

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Even though the state legislature is bowling along at a much faster clip than in former years—and tending to its business with commendable dispatch—there's still time, between committee hearings, to talk a bit of politics.

Next year is governorship year—and the pot's boiling like an over-heated tea kettle.

Governor Olson, being the incumbent, gets first consideration. All and sundry agree that the Governor, while still in the dog house with the legislature, is handling himself much better—and the story is out that Jack Elliott is pulling the public relations strings in the background. Mr. Olson, with all the strikes against him, is rated a serious contender.

Speaker of the Assembly Gordon Garland, who has taken Mr. Olson's measure in numerous legislative battles, is the next most-talked-about gentleman. As Speaker, Mr. Garland has put punch into proceedings and made an enviable record. A Democrat, but a middle-of-the-roader, instead of a leftist, he would pull a tremendous vote in the back-country and would probably take the conservative Bourbon vote in the cities. Speaker Garland is undoubtedly Governor Olson's most potent opponent in his own party.

Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles, since his impressive showing in the recent mayoralty primary, where he polled almost as many votes as all his opponents combined, looks like a promising G. O. P. contender, if he enters. For the moment, his stock eclipses that of Attorney General Earl Warren, heretofore considered the major Republican aspirant. There's a whispering campaign going on against Warren (that he's a blue-nose reformist) which isn't helping. And State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, who has always won re-election to his present office most handily, is making plenty of progress. Mr. Johnson knows his way around politically—and he has a good name; you can't laugh that off in a state election!

Switching back to the Democratic party, Senator Robert Kenny, the shrewd boy from Los Angeles, might split Governor Olson's vote right down the middle, if he started. With Olson and Kenny battling it out for the liberal and left-wing votes, and with maybe District Attorney Dockweiler of L. A. and one or two others adding to the excitement, Speaker Garland might walk in between them—and take the nomination.

That's what you hear, these days, in Capitol corridors. There are many other names mentioned, of course, and one of the also-rans now may be formidable—in 1942. There's still a lot of water to run under the bridge.

Radio listeners who had their dials turned to KSFO Tuesday evening for the 9:30 program had the pleasure of hearing Stephen Merrill. Mrs. W. I. Merrill attended a concert recently in Glendale in which her son was soloist.

Merchants In S. J. Hoop Title Victory

Campbell Merchants quint won the first two games of a two out of three game series played Tuesday and Wednesday nights against the Beta Phi Sigmas for the city-wide basketball championship.

In both games the Betas led the scoring for some time, 10-2 in the early part of the first, with a 10-10 record at the end of the period. Then the local team took the lead ending with the score 43 to 34.

Last night the Betas had a 16 to 7 lead in the first quarter. At half time the Merchants had reduced it to 24-23, and in the second half the advantage was reversed but by only a few points, 36 to 30, and a real battle ended with a 46-42 score.

This victory adds another championship to the ones already captured by the team, the City league, California league and Tri-County tournament honors.

In the list of players on the team published last week the name of Kay Borg, one of the star players, was unintentionally omitted. Paul Borg is also a player on the team. Al Carter, now in military training, was also in on many of the winning games, played before he was drafted.

Congregational Men's Club Will Entertain Ladies

The Men's Club of the Congregational church will hold a ladies' night meeting Monday evening which they plan to be the first of an annual event.

A Chinese dinner will be served by the Chinese Food Caterer restaurant of San Jose.

Included in the dinner price will be a showing of four reels of beautiful colored films of Hawaii, taken by a resident of the Islands for a number of years.

Reservations must be made with George Jeffers by Saturday night.

Union Service On Good Friday

Union observance of Good Friday will be held between 2 and 3 o'clock in the Methodist church with Rev. J. M. Brunswick in charge and Rev. J. H. Bennett giving the message.

In keeping with San Jose and neighboring communities the churches are hoping that places of business will be closed, and the hour of 2 o'clock was selected for the meeting so that people could attend the service and then go on to their various duties.

Mrs. Fred E. Rost Visits Bohnetts At Santa Barbara

Mrs. Fred E. Rost, deputy grand president of the Native Daughters, attended the official visit of the Grand President at Glendale Saturday night, April 5. On her return she visited the F. O. Bohnett family at Santa Barbara.

While there Mrs. Rost made a pilgrimage to the "Styled in Wood by Bohnett" shop in which he makes the nationwide famous Bohnettware, a complete dinner ware made in various woods. Mr. Bohnett has representatives in Los Angeles, Chicago and New York. These representatives cover a wide territory which in all covers the entire United States.

The Southern Seas shop at the famous El Paseo in Santa Barbara is the agent in Santa Barbara which handles Mr. Bohnett's product. Lovely garden furniture in the California Lime with a delphinium blue upholstered leatherette are also sold as are the combination salad and liquor bar, which will appear in the June issue of House Beautiful under the advertisement of the Southern Seas shop. A lovely coffee table made of black streaked magnolia wood has just been on display and several favorable comments have been made on it.

Mrs. Rost also made a tour of the apartments remodeled by Mr. and Mrs. Bohnett and their sons, wherein all the furniture was made by Mr. Bohnett and the color scheme, painting and landscaping was done by all the family as a family project.

Letter to the Editor

Campbell, Calif.
April 9, 1941

Mrs. Edna F. Smith, Editor,
Campbell Press.

Dear Mrs. Smith:

As my term is expiring, this will be the last notice you will receive from me as publicity chairman for the Campbell Union High School P.-T. A., and may I take this opportunity to thank you and all the members of your staff for the kindness you have shown me in my three years on a hard job.

You have all been most courteous and obliging at all times, and whatever small success I may have attained is not entirely my own. Without your unfailing co-operation, I should have found the task allotted to me entirely impossible.

For myself and my unit, I thank you all again.

Sincerely yours,
Gertrude Wood.

A most entertaining program was enjoyed by the members of the Campbell Country Woman's club on Monday. The program was introduced by Mrs. Frank Jacobson, chairman for the afternoon.

Ernestine and Donald Fahler delightfully played a duet, "Grace" by Baum. Miss Fahler played Rubenstein's "Romance."

Miss Estelle Hoisholt of the art department of San Jose State college was guest speaker for the afternoon. She spoke on the topic "Oriental Textiles." Miss Hoisholt described and showed examples of the various forms of weaving prevalent in Oriental textiles, namely Damask, Brocade and cut velvet. Various types of embroidery are also used. One of the most beautiful of these is the Pekin stitch or Forbidden stitch. It was finally banned because it was so difficult on the eyesight. It is interesting to note that the porcelains of the Ming and Sung Dynasties received their inspiration often from the lovely textiles of previous dynasties," said Miss Hoisholt. Miss Hoisholt displayed lovely textiles from her own collection as well as several pieces loaned by Frank Ingerson and George Dennison of Cathedral Oaks. She told briefly the meaning of the motifs used and pointed out the outstanding features of each piece. In closing Miss Hoisholt said "We can hardly conceive of the great amount of time and patience which is put into these beautiful fabrics and the small amount of monetary return received by the artist who creates them."

Mrs. Lavinia Grattan spoke for a few minutes on her own experiences in raising silk worms. It is a long and arduous task to raise the worm and prepare the silk from which these beautiful pieces of silk are made.

The club rooms were gayly decorated with many large bouquets of roses, lilac and tulips. Assisting Mrs. Jacobson as chairman was the following committee: Mesdames W. I. Merrill, A. D. Rice, J. B. Strong, T. N. Smiley, and M. E. Purmort.

Mrs. W. R. Morgan presided at the business meeting. A report on the County Federation annual meeting was given by Mrs. Sue Boyce. It was decided that the club will hold a dessert "kitchen shower" party on Friday, May 23.

Two new members were introduced to the club, Miss Louise Adams and Mrs. Ray Wood.

It was announced that Miss Elizabeth Taylor of Mountain View will be speaker at the April 21 meeting. Miss Taylor has lived in Burma for many years.

Bread Industry Film Shown At Kiwanis Meeting

The Kiwanis club was entertained Tuesday with interesting sound pictures of the "Bread Industry" presented by the Sunlite bakery. Ray Mathis was day chairman.

Attendance tabs for 100 per cent perfect attendance for consecutive years were presented R. E. Noddin, 2 years; W. H. Van Dyke, 3; J. E. Murdock, 7; M. E. Purmort, 10; and R. H. Hyde 14.

Next week the Los Gatos club will be here for an inter-club meeting and to present the "Log-book of Friendship," which will in turn be passed on to San Jose.

W. H. Van Dyke will be chairman and other features of the program will be solos by Miss Ruby Anderson, with Mrs. Irma Young Sanders, accompanist, and accordion numbers.

Miss Geraldine Littig who won the contest at the Campbell High school sponsored by the California Bankers association on the subject, "Can American Youth Meet the Challenge for Foreign Isms?" will repeat her speech for the club.

Jean Holloway Visits Relatives Over Week-end

Miss Jean Holloway, niece of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lamb, Winchester road, was visiting here for the week-end, making a flying trip from Hollywood.

Miss Holloway is now chief radio writer for the Kate Smith show, after 13 weeks of writing daytime serials in New York.

Two weeks ago she came to Los Angeles where the Kate Smith program has a four-weeks' engagement in Hollywood.

Miss Holloway was a student at San Jose State college where she submitted a radio script that was so favorably received that within two months she was in New York writing serials for the radio networks.

She still intends to come back to San Jose to receive her diploma, she says.

Boy Scout Court Of Honor April 17

Boy Scout troops of district number 1 will hold a Court of Honor next Thursday evening, April 17 at the Campbell Union Grammar school auditorium.

Harry Shaw of San Jose, advancement chairman of district 1, which includes 9 Scout troops, will be present and merit badges will be awarded and advancements in rank made.

An entertainment program will be given also, and the public is invited. There is no admission charge.

ETHAN LANPHEAR APPOINTED TO FILL CONSTABLE'S POST

Ethan Lanphear was appointed constable of Campbell township at Monday's meeting of the county board of supervisors.

When Harry D. Evans was recalled to service in the navy, his son, Harry G. Evans was named to fill the vacancy in the constableness, and then he reenlisted in the navy and Tony Raffanti was temporarily deputized until a meeting of the supervisors.

There were two other candidates for the post, Frank E. Weeks, now serving as night watchman, and Raymond L. Dean.

Lanphear lived here for a number of years and after entering the banking business he was transferred to other localities, returning here from Concord, to take over the management of the Campbell hotel.

He is widely and favorably known throughout this section where he will officiate.

Local Women Volunteer for Ambulance Duty

The formation of a unit of the Women's Ambulance and Transport Corps of California for Santa Clara county is meeting with popular support. Seventy were signed up the first day and that number was increased to over a hundred on Tuesday.

Volunteer enlistments are of women desirous of aiding in defense of their country should need arise either in war or disaster.

There are no dues for joining but corps members must buy their own uniforms.

There will be instructions in drill maneuvers and ambulance service, in first aid, radio receiving and sending, reading government maps and in evacuating stricken areas.

Among the first enlistments Campbell was represented by Anna Marie Wingard, Flora E. Paul, Dolores Gibson, Mary Burgess and Elenor Peterson.

A regular meeting of the Campbell Union High School P.-T. A. will be held in the little theater of the school, next Wednesday afternoon, April 16, at 2:30. There will be installation of officers with Mrs. H. A. Duffy, president of sixth district, as installing officer, and a special feature of the afternoon will be a question box conducted by members of the faculty. Mrs. G. E. Jeffers will be chairman of the day.

Alpha Circle of the Methodist church will meet Tuesday with Mrs. Kenneth Dwelley, West Rincon avenue, and Mrs. Fellman's circle the same day with Mrs. Rose Hanger, San Jose-Los Gatos road.

EASTER 1941

The coming of Easter again awakens, amid the bustle and perplexities of life, thoughts of the day in Galilee when sorrow and mourning gave way to triumphant rejoicing.

The Resurrection, then as now, was a symbol promising the re-birth of man's lost hopes and shattered dreams. Even Nature herself proclaims it the season of re-birth when, awakening from the darkness of winter's sleep, she casts over the earth a magic mantle of green, quickens the slumbering fields and orchards into radiant bloom as if bidding them don a floral crown for the celebration of Easter.

Long centuries ago, Christendom received witness of the triumph of life over the powers of darkness in the words, "Peace, He is Risen!"

If today the tread of marching millions and the din of warfare sound loudly in all ears, let it be remembered that many times before, these proud conquerors have paraded their armed might, boasted of their great designs, and each in turn has been brushed aside by forces far mightier than they. Long after their pomp has been forgotten, the enduring message of the Resurrection will remain, the message of hope and victory over the powers of darkness and despair which ever stirs the hearts of men at the season of Easter.

THE NEWSPAPERMEN KNOW

It is significant that one of the greatest waves of applause at the President's recent speech before the White House Correspondents' association came when he said that unnecessary strikes cannot be tolerated.

The Washington newspapermen know better than any other group to what extent labor racketeering has been interfering with the defense program. They know that the total defense we are after can never be attained so long as a few unscrupulous labor leaders seem to have no other ambition than to exploit the emergency to the limit.

Honest labor should keep his in mind. The man who delays defense through an unjustified strike belongs in the same classification as the war profiteer. Both are enemies of American security and safety in a world gone mad.

EIGHT YEARS OF CCC

Now entering its ninth year, the Civilian Conservation Corps finds itself to be a major asset in the preparedness program though defense was far from the thoughts of America when it first took form in 1933. Although the hundreds of thousands of young men who at one time or another were its enrollees received no military training, large numbers of them have become expert as mechanics and gained experience in driving heavy tractors and trucks. Others have received valuable training as welders, telephone men, field radio operators, surveyors and photographers. Some 125,000 young Californians have received such vocational instruction in CCC camps during the last eight years, while the total number for the nation is nearly 3,000,000. The work record of the CCC youths during this period is an enduring achievement in conservation. The special training enrollees acquired in the course of that work has provided the nation with skilled workers—and equipped the workers for skilled jobs—at a time when they are most needed.

The rearmament push is lifting employment figures in the west to higher levels with every succeeding month. The Twelfth Federal Reserve district announces that during February and March employment soared 30 per cent above that of the same period last year. In terms of the 1923-24 average, that's an increase of 161 per cent—a record.

PROTECT OUR FORESTS

A new summer season will open in California a few weeks hence and millions of vacationists and tourists will pour into our parks, forests and resort areas on holiday outings. This year, with travel to Europe and the Orient restricted by war conditions, California should enjoy the finest resort business in more than a decade.

California garners many millions of dollars from its tourist trade and, apart from every other consideration, we should certainly take reasonable precautions to protect the out-door wonderland which is the magnet for out-of-state vacationists. We wouldn't think of tossing lighted matches and cigarettes around carelessly in our homes and we can no more afford to lay waste to our forests and summer playgrounds. From the standpoint of protecting our investment in our great natural heritage, we can't afford to be careless with fire.

The U. S. Forest Service blames one-third of all the fires in federal forest lands last year on cigarette smokers. Thirty-nine per cent of all the fires in National Park areas were started by cigarettes, carelessly thrown on the forest "floor." And in California the damage from forest fires was exceedingly high. That is a reflection on both our manners and our prudence. We have the finest pleasureland in the world. Let's take care of it!

PAN-AMERICAN DAY

That the destinies of the two American continents were inseparably linked was foreseen by President Monroe over a century ago.

A steadily shrinking world, and the rise of conquest hungry forces in Europe, have today made it more necessary than ever before for the nations of the western hemisphere to present a common front against totalitarian invasion, economic and political.

For these reasons, the celebration of Pan-American Day on April 14 in two continents is this year of great significance. Pan-Americanism, as has been well said, began as an ideal, grew into a doctrine, and is now becoming a reality. For many years, the 21 nations of Latin America have looked upon the United States as the Big Neighbor with a Bigger Stick. Slowly that suspicion is retreating in the face of the conviction that the Yankee Colossus wants to wield no big stick, that no American power can stand alone in defending its freedom against attack, and that such freedom would be gravely threatened by a Nazi victory in Europe. Hitler has already said in "Mein Kampf," "Latin America—we shall create a new Germany there. We have a right to this continent. It will be a simple matter for me to produce unrest and revolts in the United States so that these gentry will have their hands full with their own affairs."

To be successful, the United States' good neighbor policy must involve deeds as well as words, sacrifices as well as sales, education in Latin America's history and traditions as well as eulogies in praise of good will. The stake is nothing less than the safety of this hemisphere and every country that is a part of it. First set aside in 1930, Pan-American Day in 1941 is no longer a celebration only but a call to action.

BARBER SHOP TALK

We're a restless, energetic nation, ever bent on improvement.

The latest step in this direction, so we hear, has been taken in Oregon where the House passed a measure making it mandatory for all future barbers to have had a high school education. So far, well and good. But the bill's sponsor declared—and this is what won him the votes that passed it—his aim was to raise the level of barber shop conversation and enable the customer to hear more intelligent comments while getting a haircut and a shave.

Obviously, legislators of the Webfoot State are taking a close shave in favoring this discriminatory bill. Why should legislators demand astute comment from barbers when the barber doesn't even demand it of his legislators? The barber is willing to let well enough alone. His representatives ought to go and do likewise.

Significant Statements By Interesting Californians

A. A. Preciado, N. Y. newspaperman arriving in Fresno for brother's funeral — "It took only 20 hours to fly here. It used to take that long to drive a mule team from Madera to Coarse Gold. And yet there are still isolationists who imagine the oceans safeguard us from attack!"

Mary Boland In "Meet the Wife" At S.F.'s Curran

Mary Boland, noted stage and screen comedienne, returns to the footlights in "Meet the Wife," three act farce by Lynn Starling, opening at the Curran Theater Monday night, April 14, under the management of Russell Lewis and Howard Young. The engagement is for two weeks only. In addition to the regular evening performances there will be bargain matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

This is Miss Boland's first stage vehicle since the New York musical success, "Jubilee" by Moss Hart and Cole Porter. She achieved previous triumphs in "Face the Music," by Irving Berlin, "The Vinegar Tree," "Cradle Snatchers" and other hits. In "Meet the Wife" Mary Boland portrays a feather-brained New England charmer who gets involved in matrimonial adventures. Her supporting cast includes Jean Cagney, Vernon Steele, John Roche, King Kennedy and Alexandra Brackett.

Added feature of "Meet the Wife" is the elaborate display of new gowns designed for Miss Boland by Howard Greer, Hollywood fashion expert.

its April meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. R. Kennedy. The executive board will meet at 7 p. m. to be followed by the regular meeting of the entire group. Mrs. J. S. C. Ross, district president will be the speaker. Hostesses will be members of Mrs. Herman Rice's Circle.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

Absolutely Replete With Thrills

By IRVIN S. COBB

WHEN Opie Reed, the writer, was a printer down in Tennessee many years ago he worked on a small weekly paper and boarded with the keeper of a small general store.

"My host," said Reed to me, "was the most inveterate checker player in the state, and his wife was the best cook that ever lived in any state. The house was right next to the store and the place where

I worked was just across the road. One day the dinner horn blew, and I broke for the store to pick up the old man and hustle for the table. I was as hungry as a bear, and as I came across the road I could smell fried chicken and other good things; and I fairly dribbled at the mouth.

"The husband was sitting at the back of the store playing checkers with another old chap. These two were the checker champions of the county. I told him dinner was ready and begged him to come on, because I knew his wife wouldn't put the dishes on the table until he showed up; but he was right in the middle of a close game and he only shook his head.

"I stood there waiting, getting hungrier and hungrier every minute and madder and madder! That dinner was bound either to scorch or get cold—and maybe do both; but there sat that old pair of fossils silent as mummies and still as the grave. Neither of them moved an inch for fifteen minutes. Finally my host scratched his head for a couple of minutes—it seemed hours to me—reached over deliberately, picked up a counter, held it poised in the air for another minute and then put it back in its original place and said, half to himself: "Well, this is excitin'!"

"It was at this juncture," said Reed, "that I hauled off and kicked his blamed old checkerboard clear out of the front door!"

SERVICE and DEPENDABILITY

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Half way around the world the economic shock of the Battle of Britain has been felt by California agriculture particularly in loss of markets for canned, dried and processed food products. Britain began the war with plenty of ships, and she preferred to bring in food supplies the long way 'round from her far-flung empire and thus conserve her limited dollar credits in this country for expenditure on planes, tanks and guns.

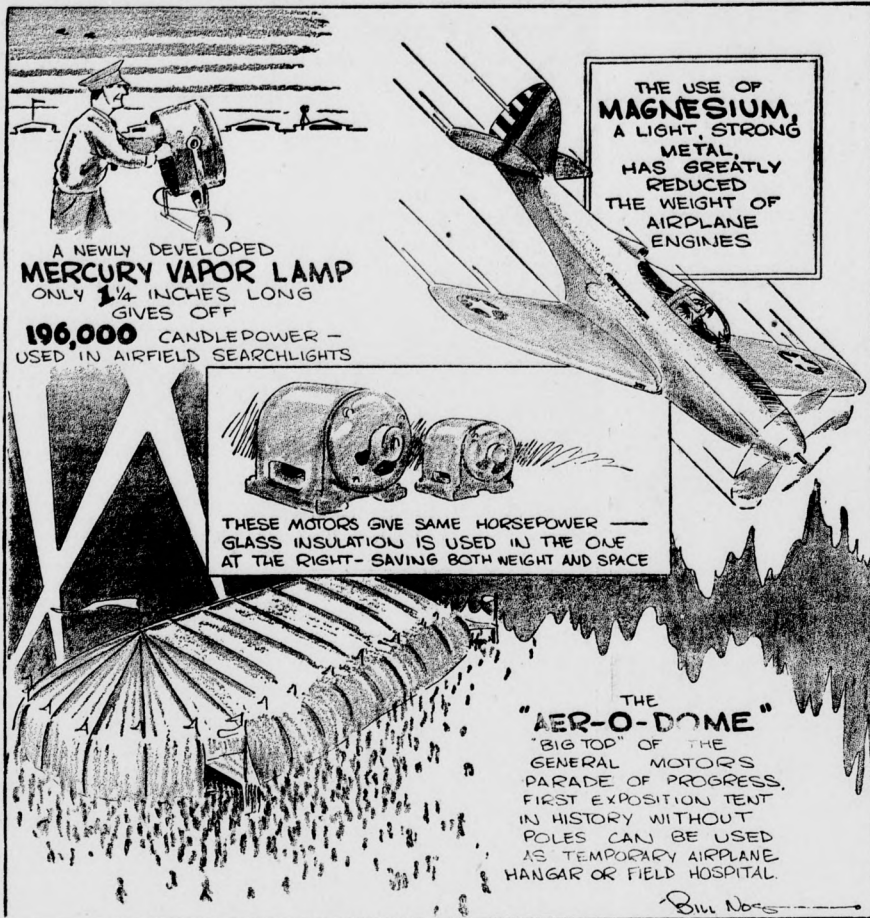

The German market was largely lost, even before the war was begun — a severe shock to the California prune industry and to many other branches of agriculture. Hitler, striving for self-sufficiency, and seeking to keep German capital in Germany, cut off imports from California and other sections of the United States long before the British blockade finished the job. Italy, France and Spain — Belgium, Holland and Finland — also have been lost, at least for the time being, as potential markets for California produce.

History has a strange custom of repeating itself, however, and the slogan of 1918, "Food Will Win The War," may soon become the slogan of 1941. Attacks of Axis submarines and bombers upon English merchant ships have been so dangerously effective in reducing commercial tonnage that the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicted last week that Britain will be obliged to shorten her trade routes for civilian supplies, and obtain immense quantities of such supplies by the comparatively short sea haul from the U. S. A. and Canada. And enactment of the lend-lease bill has loosened the restrictions on British credit so that the purchase of food here will not endanger England's contracts for war material.

Although it is not yet generally recognized, the lend-lease act not only makes the United States the arsenal for Great Britain, but also her granary and food mart. Britain, at the moment, needs food almost as badly as she needs weapons and intends to draw on this country heavily for livestock products, such as canned pork, dried eggs, evaporated milk, lard and cheese, which she formerly got from Poland, Denmark and Holland. Officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, however, do not expect Britain to ask for American wheat and corn — crops in which this country has tremendous surpluses. England apparently gets all of these crops it needs from the dominions. Indirectly, though, British purchases of livestock products will probably help the price of corn.

Reports from Washington indicate that the lend-lease act will bring about the biggest farm purchase plan since the last World War, with considerable benefit to American agriculture. But there will be no hectic campaign to plant millions of additional acres and boost production, as there was back in 1917 and 1918. Agriculture hasn't yet recovered from the debacle of more than two decades ago—and conditions today are vastly different.

AMERICAN INGENUITY IS DEFENSE ASSET

Some of the products of industrial research which are contributing to national strength, and which give promise of future improvements of an important nature, are a part of the General Motors traveling exposition, the Parade of Progress, which was launched recently on a nation-wide tour. At the formal opening of this scientific exhibit, Charles F. Kettering, research leader, declared that the permanent defense of America in the immediate future and in succeeding years is going to require greater ingenuity and inventiveness, more dissatisfaction with old, inefficient ways of doing things, more real hard work than ever before.

Mrs. A. L. Gladding of El Granada San Mateo county, was a Saturday to Wednesday guest of her cousin, Mrs. M. B. Jenkins, North First street.

On the first World War, England, France, Italy, the Scandinavian countries and even Russia desperately needed wheat and cotton. In fact, they called out for all manner of food supplies. American agriculture expanded its plant to feed two-thirds of the world; prices boomed—and then, when the war ended, the bottom fell out!

But today, while industrial areas in the United States have benefited from the national defense spending program, farming areas, thus far, have not. In fact, there has been serious danger that the farmer would find the prices of all the things he must buy increasing, without any comparable increase in the prices of the commodities he sells. The anticipated big buying program by Britain may help to avert that calamity, but it will not, on the other hand, bring boom conditions to agriculture.

Any farmer who sees prosperity just around the corner, as a result of proposed shipments to Britain—and who might feel tempted to step up his production—should take another look. This country has a carry-over of 700,000,000 bushels of corn, or more than four times normal; we have a wheat carry-over of 400,000,000 bushels; we have 11,000,000 bales of surplus cotton, 372,000,000 pounds of surplus tobacco, 2,735,000 pounds of surplus butter, 3,609,000 dozen surplus eggs, 37,000,000 pounds of surplus vegetables and 25,000,000 pounds of surplus fruit.

The farmer, however, has learned to be grateful for small favors. Britain's buying program may take up some of the slack.

"Mr. and Mrs. Smith At Blanco's Campbell Theater

Co-starring Carole Lombard and Robert Montgomery, who are seen together for the first time, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" present these top favorites in a riotous social comedy of a young Park avenue lawyer and the woman who for three years has been accepted as his wife. This picture will be at Blanco's Campbell theater Thursday to Saturday this week.

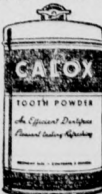

Weaving its story deftly around the marital life of this highly modern pair and the unique domestic rules by which they live, the film hits a crisis when the two discover that their wedding was illegal. In their emotional rebound they find their romance has become a triangle, with the lawyer's partner stepping in as a rival for the heroine's hand.

With this brilliant comedy is being shown "Thunder Afloat" starring Wallace Beery, Chester Morris and Virginia Grey.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, April 13, 14 and 15 will be shown "Footsteps in the Dark" with Errol Flynn in the leading role. On the same bill is the Aldrich Family in "Life With Henry."
